

Construction

Overview

Construction is a hands-on business, and at Schiff Hardin, the lawyers in our Construction Law Group are there to do the heavy lifting. We believe that effective legal counsel should smooth a client's path and eliminate barriers — not create additional hurdles. When it comes to representing our clients in construction matters, removing those barriers and solving problems is the best way to ensure that projects are completed successfully.